National Data for state funded schools, 2017*

Thornton Primary School was founded in 1930 and has been both a Primary school and junior school. Currently it is a Primary school with a 629 pupils on role. From the above statistics it is evident that much higher percentage of pupils classed nationally as from Ethnic Minorities and a very low number of WENG children. The school is situated in Ward End which according to the National Statistics Indices of Deprivation 2011 had a Rank of Total Deprivation equalling 3689 out of 32482 placing it in the 25% of most deprived neighbourhoods in Birmingham, with one of the poorest living environments on average in the city.

The school building is an amalgamation of several additions to the original 1930's build, with interior corridors being added on and additional classrooms built as required. The most recent addition was an inclusion and Pastoral room known as the Nest. This is the most fully accessible part of the school with a lift to the first floor, dual height handrails on the stairs, a disabled toilet and wider doorways. During its additions and refurbishments the school has made attempts to increase physical accessibility through ramps being fitted although the original classrooms still have interior steps and restricted floor space in some instances.
